

APPENDIX PC8

Dear fellow Parish Councillors,

On a related matter I have been thinking for a while that we should start planning a suitable way of commemorating the Queen's reign.

I don't want to be indelicate but in 2022 we will either be celebrating the Queen's 70 years on the throne or will have a new monarch (in which case we will be commemorating the reign of his predecessor). My initial thoughts are that the Parish Council would lead this project, would ask villagers for suggestions for what we could do (aiming for an unveiling or whatever in 2022) and then assess/vote on the suggestions until we make a final selection. Obviously this will cost money that we don't have readily at hand so some fundraising will inevitably be involved.

My own early suggestion would be to develop the quiet garden in the village by adding a decorative metal arch/entranceway, improving the facilities and maybe doing something creative with QE2 roses.

What does anyone else think about this?
